BILL OF RIGHTS

Preamble

Here we abide by laws set by the common JRP, no JRP is above any law. These laws are set to maintain peace, freedom, justice, and security to our empire. Any infractions of these laws will result in duly acted punishment, in which sentencing will match crime enacted. We hold these laws imperative to uphold the prosperity of our empire.

“For the JRP, by the JRP.”

Article I: Setting

Section 1: Locale

All instances that are deemed reviewable for sentencing must occur in the JRP discord, otherwise the instance occurred is null.

Article II: Evidence

Section 1: Evidence

Eye witness accounts are not sufficient evidence for prosecution or guilt.

Section 2: Deletion

Clipping will only be admissible when the sole judicial figure is present and active in a JRP voice channel and only when language is not heard. Must be deleted once reviewed for a sentence to be levied.

Article III: Trial

Section 1: Conditions

Trial shall only take place if judicial figure deems suitable in which the situation must satisfy three conditions:

- A. Judicial Figure must be present in an active voice channel.
- B. Must be three JRPs, outside of the judicial party, present to enact the trial.
- C. Evidence given must follow laws written within the section of Article II

Section 2: Proceedings

Once trial is enacted, each member shall verbally declare their position on instance under review. After declaration of positions, trial will begin. Opening statements are given to each side starting with the side of the winning coin flip. Opening statements will be held to a strict time limit of two minutes. Following opening statements the judicial party will ask for evidence and witnesses to be identified for each party. Evidence and or witnesses will be given one at a time and each side will have their chance to talk about the subject with the loser of the coin toss having priority. Once all has been discussed the judicial party will make a decision based on the sections found in Article IV.

Section 3: Etiquette

All JRPs present and active in trial are expected to hold themselves to a standard which requires each member to act properly within the trial. Behaviors that work to undermine the integrity of the trial will be considered contempt of trial and receive a penalty discussed in sections under Article V.

Article IV: Sentencing

Section 1: Standards and Limitations

Sentences shall be held to a maximum that shall not be infringed by the judicial party. Each sentence will be fitting to the committed misconduct. Furthermore, instances committed must be present within sections listed below to receive Sentencing.

Section 2: Classification of Misconduct

Sentences shall be levied to each category of offenses listed below.

- A. Words not suitable for the public ear but not against a JRP Member shall be sentenced with years according to word(s) said.
